

TAM IRVING

BIOGRAPHY AND CURRICULUM VITAE

Tam was born in 1933 in Bilbao, Spain. Part of his childhood was spent in Portugal where the traditional earthenwares first stimulated his interest in ceramics. This early interest was set aside for what he deemed more serious vocational matters while he studied at Edinburgh University, Scotland, receiving a B.Sc. degree from this institution in 1956. That same year he emigrated to Canada and worked for seven years in the Shell Canada organization as a chemist. Not finding any fulfillment in this work, he left industry in 1964 and returned to his first love, clay. He studied at the Winnipeg School of Art, Haystack Mountain School of Crafts and the Vancouver School of Art. Feeling that what he really needed to do was to make pots, he cut short any further academic study and established a studio in Vancouver in 1966, where he earned a living as a production potter for the next seven years. In 1973 he began to teach at the Vancouver School of Art and this matured into a full-time teaching career at the Emily Carr University of Art and Design. He retired from the Institute in 1996 in order to return to his own practice.
